TECHNICAL TALK

Joan DuPuy, Shelton State Technical Division

Wayne B. Boteler, dean of students at Shelton State Community College, Technical Division, participated in a Vocational Education and Defense Preparedness Seminar recently in Arlington, Va. The seminar was a joint endeavor of the US Department of Defense, Department of Education, and the American Vocational Association and was designed to provide military and defense industrial base representatives the opportunity to explain their requirements to vocational educators and for vocational educators to explain their capabilities for helping satisfy those needs.

Their presentation, "Army National Guard Medical Personnel Training," focused on Shelton's program for National Guardsmen in the Practical Nurse Education program. Over 300 educators and military personnel who attended were addressed by the Honorable T H Bell, Secretary of Education, and the Honorable Frank Carlucci, Deputy Secretary of Defense.

State auditors arrived last week for a three-month visit for examination of all books, records and accounts for all divisions of Shelton State Community College.

JACK MOORE, machine shop instructor, attended the 1982 International Machine Tool show in Chicago, Ill. recently.

On the Lighter Side ----- Howell Franks, automotive mechanic instructor, describes the biggest news event of the week: He said that Shelton Tech dean of instruction Hubert Worthy changed a tire on the state car. "Mr. Worthy," Franks said, "is the only administrator in the history of Shelton State Community College who has changed a tire on a state car by himself!" (HOW DEBATABL IS THAT FACT, DEANS?)
